From Your Associational Missionary...

Dr. David Jerimiah in his book The 12 Ways of Christmas, shares this story.

“Interestingly, convenience seems to play a significant part in holiday gift giving. More than $29 billion of the 2007 shopping total was spent online, and $35 billion was spent on gift cards. Just imagine how much easier it would have been for the Magi if they could have purchased their gold, frankincense, and myrrh over the Internet and had them delivered directly to Bethlehem. I would have saved them several months’ worth of saddle sores, not to mention a life-threatening encounter with a vindictive king named Herod. Or, if they weren’t sure that gold and precious spices were the right gifts for the newborn King, they could have just purchased gift cards and let Mary pick out something that Jesus needed.

That fanciful scenario suggests just how far we have come from the humble actions of several ancient “wise men” who established the pattern of gift giving at the first Christmas. They spared no expense in their gifts of gold, frankincense, and myrrh. They gave their gifts humbly, personally, and thoughtfully—royal gifts for the newborn King. The way the Magi gave their gifts should serve as a model for how we give. I don’t mean we have to give as expensively as they did or deliver all our gifts in person. And there’s certainly nothing wrong with shopping online or giving a gift card. If I had to choose a word to summarize Christian Christmas gift giving, I think I would choose appreciatively. If we give gifts to one another appreciatively, we’ll be saying, “I honor and appreciate you. I’ve selected this gift for you because I want you to know how much I value you and the role you play in my life. This gift isn’t a payment—it’s an expression of what I could never repay or replace your unique friendship.” Isn’t that what the very first Christmas gift represented to those who received it? No, I’m not talking about the Magi’s gifts to the baby Jesus. I’m talking about the gift of Jesus Himself to you and me. Jesus once referred to His coming into the world as “the gift of God” (Romans 6:23). And the apostle John talked about all who received the gift of God gaining the “right to become children of God” (John 1:12). So Jesus’ entry into the world was indeed the first Christmas gift. God gave something of infinite value to say to us, “I love you more than you can imagine. I want you to know how valuable you are to Me.” Our gifts to one another at Christmas ought to be a reflection of God’s first gift to us. When we give to others, it ought to be an expression of gratitude for what God has given to us. The generosity and appreciation revealed through our gifts ought to say to the recipient. “Everything I know about giving I learned from God’s gift of Jesus Christ to me.” Is that too idealistic? Perhaps. But remember that maturity is our goal in all the Christian life (Matthew 5:45). We strive to do and be all that God wants us to be, knowing we’ll fall short—and that applies to our gift giving this year as well. But by striving to have our gifts reflect God’s gift to us—by keeping his gift in mind—we may be able to stay focused on giving instead of spending. Giving like God gives. It’s the way of Christmas.”

From the WMU

As we approach the Christmas season a lot of our thoughts and attention tend to be towards buying Christmas gifts. I may have shared before about a friend, who after talking with her husband, decided to give money to a worthy cause instead of buying gifts for each other. I've heard several others including families talk about how they can help others during this time of year instead of getting more things themselves. You can probably think of needs in our community you can help and donate to. There are opportunities through national WMU you could support also. Some of those include Pure Water, Pure Love, WorldCrafts, Lottie Moon Christmas Offering, Annie Armstrong Easter Offering, Global Hunger or the WMU Foundation. You could give a gift to one of these worthy causes in honor or memory of someone.

National WMU in Birmingham is having an Observance of the Week of Prayer for International Missions on Thursday, December 8 from 10:00-11:00 a.m. Building tours begin at 9:00 a.m. (Central Time). You will also have a chance to meet Sandy Wisdom-Martin, the new executive director/treasurer of national WMU. You can also enjoy shopping in the WMU gift shop, interactive displays, and refreshments. You will need to RSVP by Tuesday, December 6, by calling 205-991-8100 or online. (I will put a link on our local WMU website.)

Make Plans Now

We hope you will mark your calendars for February 25 and plan to bring a group of children from your church to the Children's Missions Extravaganza at Roopville Road Baptist. This is a state sponsored event that Dan and the CBA are assisting with. Please find registration information at <http://gabaptist.org/extra/>. I'll share some more information in the January newsletter and online.

The Georgia Baptist Women's Event will be at Atlanta Evergreen Marriott Conference Resort in Stone Mountain April 28-29. You can find more information at <http://gabaptistwomen.springevent.com>; You may want to go ahead and place your reservation.

Thanks for all you do.
